The standard guide to business success in China

The definitive China guide for managers and entrepreneurs, now completely revised and updated.

China – Business Partner Between Dream and Reality is packed full of facts, background information and evaluations essential both for an understanding of future developments in China and when planning business dealings with Chinese companies. It looks at the immense opportunities – future growth locations, new impulses for research and development, the Olympic Games in Beijing in 2008 and the World Fair in Shanghai in 2010 – but also the risks involved in doing business in China: the problem of state-owned companies and banks, social contrasts, environmental pollution and product piracy. This book provides the reader with a tried and tested guide on preparing to do business in China, the selection of partners, personnel management and communication. An indispensable guide to China.

‘Anyone who plans to do business successfully in China needs a holistic and interdisciplinary overview. And this book gives you just that.’
